

GOES TO THE JURY

The Leonard Case Submitted to the Twelve Arbiters.

ARREST OF A MAN IN THE COURT

On a Charge of Tampering With the Jury—The Court and Prisoner. The Jury Out All Night.

The twelve jurors who are trying to decide as to Fred Leonard's status in the world are at it and have been since 3 p. m. yesterday. At 11 p. m. Judge Adair adjourned court until 9 o'clock this morning, leaving the jurors to enjoy each other's society till then.

Arrested for Tampering.

Yesterday Judge Adair's court was occupied by the attorneys' arguments in the Leonard case and by the judge in charging the jury. The closing scene before the case went to the jury proved to be one more exciting than anything that has occurred during the long and tedious trial. When the final argument had closed there was the usual rustle in the room of shuffling feet and shifting seats, when during a lull in the proceedings Judge Adair suddenly exclaimed to Under Sheriff Walsh, "Arrest that man," pointing to a large, powerful looking man near the railing which separates the audience from the bar. Officer Walsh hustled him man through the audience to the sheriff's office. He demanded the cause of his arrest and was told that he was accused of attempting to tamper with the jury. The man was very angry and said he would not be detained without a warrant. Officer Walsh said the judge had ordered his arrest and he must remain. "Why," said Mr. Walsh, "if the judge told me to arrest Grover Cleveland I would do it."

"I'm going out of here," exclaimed the man. "You'll never walk over my dead body," was the officer's reply. "Then you die," said the prisoner as he advanced threateningly toward the officer. He stopped for a moment when Mr. Walsh, and Clerk Harvey took occasion to give him some advice which quieted him.

Explained the Charge.

As soon as the jury had been charged Judge Adair called the man before him and told him that some of the jurors had complained of his trying to treat them to cigars and inviting them to drink with him. The prisoner gave his name as Horace Becker and said he was manager of the Dunlap Happy Home club on Monroe street. He came to the city about four months ago from Bay City. He denied emphatically any intention of tampering with the jury. If he had invited them to smoke or drink with him he did not know they were jurors. He had been engaged in looking after Fred H. Leonard in the Happy Home club. He frequently went into saloons and spent considerable money for liquor and cigars. He said he went to saloons in search of drunkards to reform. He tried to induce drinking men to take the Dunlap cure. He said he was not such a "chump" as to attempt to tamper with a jury. He had been a deputy United States marshal under J. R. Bennett in Bay City for eight years, and had done duty as an officer for sixteen years. Judge Adair allowed Becker to go on his own recognizance to appear this morning at 10 o'clock. The result of the affair will give grounds for an application for a new trial.

Charge to the Jury.

In charging the jury Judge Adair told of the origin of the suit and stated the reasons why Fred Leonard had appealed to the circuit court. He quoted the law governing the property of insane persons and the manner in which application must be made to the judge of probate for the appointment of a guardian for insane persons. He said the facts to be determined were: First, was Fred H. Leonard on March 9, 1892, mentally incapable of taking care of himself and managing his property? Second, is Fred H. Leonard now mentally incapable of taking care of himself and managing his property? He said if they found the latter issue in favor of the petitioner he would have to appoint a guardian of his person and estate other than the one appointed by the judge of probate, should he be satisfied that the action of the probate court in that respect was not proper. It did not follow that the order of the probate court must be affirmed in that regard should they find the issue of fact the same as the court did. As to whether the Michigan Trust company was a suitable guardian the jury had nothing to do. It was not necessary that the jury should find Fred H. Leonard an absolute idiot or a raving maniac in order to find that the mental incapacity existed, if his mind was so impaired that he could not transact ordinary business. If they found that since he was stricken with paralysis he had led an aimless wandering life, that he had become untidy, inattentive to business and had changed in character, it should be taken into consideration in determining the case.

The Truthful Test

It requires no learned experts or scientific experiments to establish the fact that DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS FLAVORING EXTRACTS are not only the strongest, but positively the sweetest and most delicate fruit flavors. If housewives will flavor a cake, pudding, custard or cream with Dr. Price's Extract of Vanilla, Lemon or Orange, and a smaller quantity gives a more natural and grateful taste than can be imparted by any other Extracts, is it not an incontestable proof of their greater excellence? In every case where Dr. Price's Flavors are used they give perfect satisfaction.

police court yesterday morning. The charge for carrying concealed weapons was nolle prossed. Judge Haggerty holding that as the weapon was found in her satchel the offense did not come under the statute. The woman was released and arraigned on a charge of procuring girls to enter a house of ill fame. Frank Smith was arraigned on a similar charge. Both pleaded not guilty and their bonds were fixed at $1,000 each, which neither of them could give.

REUNION OF THE OLD THIRD

Was Held With Its Usual Pleasantries Yesterday.

The survivors of the "Old Third" Michigan infantry regiment held their twenty-first annual reunion yesterday. About 100 veterans were present and the red diamond was conspicuous everywhere. The afternoon was spent with fraternal handshaking and talking over the old times, made memorable in part by the valiant action of the "old third." At 6 o'clock the business session was begun at the Bridge Street house. Resolutions regarding dead members were adopted and the following officers were elected:

President, D. C. Crawford, Ionia; first vice president, Charles Miller, Muskegon; second vice president, D. E. Birdsell, Hastings; fourth vice president, M. J. Bonner, Casnovia; fifth vice president, Joseph Brewer, Luther; secretary, George E. Judd; treasurer, Fred Schriver, Sr. Wurzburg's orchestra discoursed appropriate music during the banquet. Gen. Byron L. Pierce acted as toastmaster. He said it gave him strange feelings to see the men who had fought through the battle of Bull Run, and stood their part of the hard fighting gathered together once again, and happily ended by calling on Allen S. Shattuck to respond to the toast, "Chancellerville." Mr. Shattuck responded pleasantly and read his personal memoirs of that battle.

After a guitar solo, entitled the "Siege of Sebastopol," by G. S. Kimball, toastmaster Pierce introduced Comrade E. O. Rose of the Forty-fourth Indiana volunteers, who responded to "The Loyal Women of America." Judge Patterson of St. Johns, spoke of Anna Ehrbridge, "our gentle Annie." General Knutson was present and said that the mission of the veteran on the battlefield had been fulfilled. Col. Zach Adrich spoke of the suffering undergone by union soldiers and the benefit the nation had derived.

ITS SUCCESSFUL BAZAAR.

Church of Christ Debt Reduced as a Result.

The Home Missionary society of the Church of Christ held a most successful bazaar in Good Templars' hall last evening from 5 o'clock until 10:30. The room was arranged with tables and stalls, where fancy articles were kept for sale by a company of attractive young women, who spared neither time nor words in crying their wares. A noticeable feature was the absence of all forms of gambling. No tickets for chances were offered. If the purchaser wished an article he paid the price asked and departed. Many fine articles were donated by merchants of the city, and as a result the net profits of the bazaar were very large.

A splendid supper was served, partaken of by several hundred persons. The bazaar was held for the purpose of raising funds to apply on the church debt. A handsome sum was raised, but the exact amount was not known last evening.
